Natural Gas: America's Natural Gas Alliance's Robertson discusses short-term pricing expectations

Last week, U.S. EPA found that contaminant levels in the water in Dimock, Pa., showed no health threat and no connection to hydraulic fracturing chemicals. What is the broader significance of the finding to the national fracking discussion? During today's OnPoint, Peter Robertson, senior vice president for legislative and regulatory affairs at America's Natural Gas Alliance and a former chief of staff and deputy administrator at EPA, discusses the Dimock case and also talks about the potential for price fluctuations in the natural gas market.
